Mr. Seward in Japan

HIS RECEPTION THERE—THE JAPANESE IDEA OF EXCLUSION FADING AWAY

[From the New York Times]

The courteous reception accorded by the Mikado of Japan to Mr Seward is it may be hoped, significant of even more than a desire on the part of the native Government to cultivate friendly relations with the American people in the person of an illustrious statesman As the first foreigner who in the character of a simple citizen, was admitted to an audience with the mysterious ruler Mr Seward has enjoyed a privilege which common place enough in more Western land, bears a special value in the "Land of Rising Sun, His reception symbolized in the Japanese mind a definite abandonment of that policy of isolation which, maintained for centuries, has slowly yielded to the pressure of Western civilization More than three hundred years ago the picturesque Bay of Nagasaki, its green clad islets, and the lovely villages nestling on its shores, were the scenes of a tragedy so hideous that it would almost have seemed to invite the curse of God upon a spot adorned with natural beauties of a rare order By decree of the then Shogoon—the temporal Emperor,' who until recently, exercised conquul power with the 'religious Emperor," or Mikado—named Taiko Sama, thirty thousand Christians, men, women and children, were burned to death, or forced at the point of the sword to throw themselves off the rocky steeps of Pappenberg into the boiling ocean below "The massacre of Simabarra,' as the most atrocious of the many episodes in this fiendish plot is designated, rivaled in its horrors the worst ever recorded in the old murder days of mediæval Europe Upon that day Japan closed her ports to the Western world, only permitting a few Dutch traders to reside in semi captivity upon a small peninsula, and they even upon the sole condition of once a year trampling upon a cross drawn upon the ground for that purpose For three hundred years was the 'pestiferous sect of Christians proscribed and the residence of Christian missionaries prohibited The treaty of Commodore Perry opened up this long-isolated Empire to the world But incredible as it may appear not only this, but all succeeding treaties American, English, French &c, have failed to provide for any immunity from persecution to native Christians But a few months ago, a notification enjoining officials to report on and punish them whenever found was published by the native Government Although foreigners enjoy perfect freedom, a Japanese is at this moment liable to summary punishment for attending a foreign place of worship

It did not, of course, lie within the competence of this or any other Government recognizing Japan as a Treaty Power to insist upon its according freedom of conscience to its own subjects. But that some effort in that direction was not made seems a pity It is sufficiently obvious that to make the adoption of Christianity in any form a penal offense, is a violation of the conditions which can alone render intercourse between nations satisfactory However little abstract right we may have to interfere in such a matter that little is of a nature to justify the strongest persuasive pressure The Japanese are by no means ignorant of the opinion entertained of their policy, in this respect by outside nations But no statesman has yet been found brave enough to face the traditions of the past and the hostility of the present by proposing to remove the disabilities to which Christian converts have hitherto been condemned In the reception accorded to Mr Seward there is, however evidence of so daring an innovation upon long established custom, that it leads us to regard as no longer unlikely an equally radical change in policy pursued toward professors of Christianity Up till liberty of thought be secured to its people by law, Japan will, despite her attentions to Western visitors, remain indefinitely behind those nations with which she is so anxious to place herself on equal terms

A Revolutionary Government

Some of our democratic friends are expressing great indignation because the President has returned some of his former officers about the White House "Perley," of the Boston Journal, shows that he has excellent precedents for doing so and that it is not as they would have us suppose, an innovation

"President Grant, in returning Gen Porter, who was his aide de camp in military service, as his Secretary, but follows in the footsteps of his most illustrious predecessors The first time that President Washington sent a communication to Congress it was thus recorded A message received from the President of the United States by Gen Knox President Jackson had as his private secretary during his whole term from 1829 to 1837 Col Andrew Jackson Donelson a West Point graduate, who was his nephew and who had served as his aid-de-camp Another staff officer, Major Lewis, lived in the White House during Jackson's administration drawing his pay as an auditor of the Treasury, and Gen Call, who had also served on Jackson's staff in Florida, was one of the leading personages here in Old Hickory days President Harrison did not live long enough to send any communications to Congress, but President Taylor did exactly what President Grant is now so berated for He took with him to the White House his aid-de camp and Adjutant General, Col Wm S Bliss, who acted as private secretary from March 1 1849 until the President's death on the 9th of July 1850 when he returned to duty in the army It should also be remembered that Col John Hay drew pay as an officer while serving as Mr Lincoln's secretary, as did Col Mackay, Col Moore and Col Rives when they were secretaries of President Johnson"

Large and Small Legislative Bodies

The Boston Transcript thinks that there is probably less legislative corruption in New England than in other sections of the Union The first reason assigned is the great number of legislators, a usage sustained by two reasons, one that there is thought to be safety in a multitude of counsellors and the other that it has been found that the Legislature was a good place to educate men for public service Gentlemen who have been to the general court make better selectmen, assessors, and members of school committees than persons who have never held official positions outside their own neighborhoods

Comparison is made with the Legislature of New York and Pennsylvania, which are generally believed to be the most corrupt, and which are the smallest in proportion to the population. New York has 32 Senators and 128 Representatives, Pennsylvania 33 Senators and 100 Representatives, Massachusetts 40 Senators and 240 Representatives Maine 31 Senators and 151 Representatives Ohio 37 Senators and 105 Representatives, Missouri 34 Senators and 200 Representatives California 40 Senators and 80 Representatives Vermont 30 Senators and 241 Representatives With one-twelfth the population of New York, Vermont has nearly double the number of members of her Legislature New Hampshire has a larger House and smaller Senate than any of the other States, the former consists of 328 members and the latter of only 12

A little boy who went to church was cautioned to remember the text which was "Why stand ye all the day idle? Go into my vineyard, and whatsoever is right I will pay thee" Johnny came home and was asked to repeat the text He thought over it awhile, and then cried out 'What d'ye stand round here doing nuffin for, go into my brandyard and work, I'll make it all right with you.

POLITICAL NOTES

Major Gallaher, a lone armed ex Confederate soldier, was taken from his bed recently in Sandersville, Georgia, by disguised men who shot him and left him for dead His offense is said to have been voting for a Republican at the late election

The bill providing a government for the District of Columbia was passed by the House on the 20th ult, by a vote of yeas 97 nays 58 The bill will probably be reported without amendment by the Senate committee and will doubtless pass the Senate

Tammany has a new mine to work in the construction of a new State House at Albany Two million dollars have already been spent on it work has stopped for want of more money the building is hardly out of the ground and the cost of completing it after the grand plans made for it is estimated at twenty million dollars The job is likely to be on hand for a long while and properly tolled may be made very profitable through a number of years to the political rings of New York

The trouble in the New York Tammany ring is understood to be a disposition on the part of Sweeny and Mayor Hall to rid themselves of any further responsibility for Fisk and that sort of gross material which has become a stench in the nostrils of the nation It may be easy for these clean shirted gentlemen to throw overboard Fisk now since Mistress Lawlor has done it so successfully but they will hardly find it so simple a matter to dispose of 'Boss" Tweed It may be just possible, in a conflict with him that they would find themselves on the outside of the house

The old fashioned, true blue Kentucky democracy, who are not reconciled to the abolition of slavery, or any other of the modern innovations of civilization,—unless it be Bourbon whisky—are breaking away from the leadership of the old Louisville Journal, and have arranged to set up a new organ by the importation of the New Albany (Ind) Ledger, which is to be transferred to Kentucky soil, put on Kentucky 'airs' of the old obtrusive style, and fight on the platform of the Virginia resolutions of 98 How the antiquarians must treasure these old Kentucky fellows, and long to preserve them in spirits as curiosities for posterity Or, in other words to have them inside instead of outside of their bottles

England's Position

HERR BLIND IN REPLY TO EARL RUSSELL'S LETTER—COMMENTS ON THE SITUATION

Herr Karl Blind has a letter addressed to the Times gives Earl to Earl Russell's demand that England should put herself in a position of defense (he says) it is not Germany we have to protect against as the noble Earl seems to While Lord Russell says that even if he were not an Englishman, he would think this free country worthy of being protected against the danger of an attack, he may be sure that these words of his find a responsive chord among those who have lived during long years of exile on English soil, who have begun to look upon it as almost their second home and who entertain a warm feeling for a country which Schiller styled the Tyrannenwehr—the bulwark against tyrants What Herr Blind has to accuse Earl Russell of is a disposition to commit against Germany the same fault which many even of his countrymen who form adhered to his policy in America have begun to recognize as having then been committed by him Is Earl Russell (says the German publicist) now intent upon helping to weaken the bonds of amity which have hitherto connected the kindred nations of England and Germany as he has done in the case of England and America In strangely deceives him effect of his letter many over an unprovoked I suppose recognizes security, and an advance for the triumph of France England's natural ally would have brought grave country indeed This being so be reasonably expected that ons of preserving the this country would make for strengthening the friendship between England and Germany—say for the question of the export of employ language which offends the dignity of the natural ally by the use of unfounded suspicions? Or does Earl Russell really believe in a threatening from Germany—an idea which would fain impose upon easy There is no need for the writer to say that he is a stranger to English policy If therefore Lord Russell has given the Czar's unscrupulous act and the revival of the Luxembourg question its soundness from any wish to defend the practices of Hohenzollern policy or any other dynastic state All Europe has an interest not to allow treaties to be set aside which has been pressed to the overgrown Muscovite Empire armed, and, I should say hardly even sufficient, punishment for its projected thrust upon Constantinople But who will maintain that it is the interest of Europe to prevent Germany from reuniting to her a province which was unduly severed from her by the arrogant war measures of that same Napoleon who afterward endeavored to wrest from us all our Rhinelands?' The rest of the letter is taken up with an attempt to demonstrate that Luxembourg is German and has never been anything else

New Cars—The Central Pacific Company are having a number of cars constructed for the use of their employees on freight trains, and such other purposes as they may wish to put them to These cars appear, from a specimen seen yesterday, to be far more convenient than a first-class passenger coach though not nearly so commodious, being very little larger than the freight cars Outwardly they are of the same color as the Company's passenger coaches, and they have a platform and door at each end and a sliding door at each side A row of small windows also extend around the car In the interior at one end about one-quarter of the space of the car is partitioned off as a wash room, wood room, etc The balance is furnished partly as an observatory and partly as a sitting and sleeping room Adjoining the partition mentioned, on each side of the car, are platforms about four feet high, the under portion of them being used as stowage rooms On top of one of them are placed two cushioned benches for the accommodation of those who wish to see the country On the top of the other is a revolving arm-chair for the conductor of the train, and in the wall beside a cupboard, with a door to lower and use as a desk the cupboard being fitted with pigeon holes for his papers Over this portion of the car, raised about a foot from the roof is an octagonal cupola, the sides being of glass The conductor can sit in his chair and command a view of his entire train in the day-time, while passengers may sit on either side and view the country through which they are passing at their leisure The bell cord is, of course, within easy reach of the conductor Along each side of the balance of the car is a cushioned seat, and over each two sleeping berths, which can be let down when required and used for beds, the seats being also wide enough to lie upon easily In the center of the car the stove is placed Taken altogether these cars are probably the nicest and most comfortable and convenient caboose cars in use Three of them have already been turned out of the shops, and soon all the freight trains of the company will have these cars attached —Sacramento Record

An Interview with Gambetta

[Cable dispatch to the New York Herald]

BORDEAUX January 17—Your correspondent has had a personal interview with Gambetta I asked him whether the war would be continued if Paris fell He replied with great earnestness that the fall of Paris would have no effect whatever in stopping the war if the Prussian conditions of peace were still maintained but I cannot bring myself to believe that Paris will capitulate I believe that the people themselves would burn her like second Moscow before they would allow the enemy to take possession"

"But supposing the city does capitulate," I asked 'what then?"

'In that case," said Gambetta, 'we must fight in the Provinces We have now, without the Army of Paris, half a million of men in the field and a quarter of a million ready to join them, without touching the levy of 1871, or enrolled married men The former will give 300,000 recruits the latter 200,000 of able bodied men. We have arms pouring in from all quarters"

In regard to England Gambetta spoke with some bitterness He said

"That country made a fatal mistake when she allowed fear and selfishness to prevent her interference and allowing France to be dismembered and destroyed England has lost her only ally on the Continent and has virtually handed over the balance of power to Prussia, whose close and secret alliance with Russia is unquestionable No one of sense can doubt, that in ten years or so, Russia will be at Constantinople, Prussia in Holland Belgium and Trieste, and the control of the whole world delivered over to those two Powers The Czar looks further eastward towards the English possessions I believe myself" continued Gambetta, "the English people now see the error and will hold the Ministry responsible when Parliament meets"

A Comparison for Farmers.

By an arrangement between the three great lines of railway from Chicago to the east, viz: the Michigan Central, the Michigan Southern and the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne roads, a tariff of freights is established whereby it costs twenty-four cents per bushel, or forty cents per hundred pounds, to transport grain from Chicago to the Atlantic seaboard. The average price of wheat in New York, white and red, is about $1 50 per bushel. This would indicate about the same price for wheat at Chicago that it now bears here, say $1 25 per bushel; and on examining Chicago prices current we find that figure to be about the ruling rate.

Forty cents per hundred pounds from Chicago to New York is eight dollars per ton. This is nearly double what it costs to ship wheat from here to San Francisco. Hence our position for growing grain and our facilities for sending it away compare very favorably with those possessed in the middle or upper Mississippi States. Indeed we have an actual advantage. If we seek a foreign market we are quite as well off as Chicago. Eight dollars per ton to the seaboard and six to seven dollars to European ports, makes the cost as great as that of shipping from here to European ports direct. The average freight paid grain vessels that have sailed from here to England during the present winter is equal to about fifteen dollars per ton. Taking all the cargoes into the account, it will be found that Chicago, one of the greatest grain depots in the world, and possessing an unrivalled railway system, cannot place her grain in a foreign market at any cheaper rates than we can. And we have just shown that Chicago cannot send her grain to New York at as low a figure as we can send ours to San Francisco.

Of course the vast agricultural districts lying west of Chicago are still more unfavorably situated in respect of a market. The region west of the Mississippi river is so distant that railway charges absorb the whole profits of production. Consequently in this view it is not nearly so desirable for farmers as Oregon is. We can get our grain to market at smaller cost than any locality west of Chicago.

The productiveness of the country is to be considered. We can produce more wheat to the acre and a better quality, than those States which find their depot at Chicago. This is an advantage which is very material. No wheat is seen there which equals our own. Then the advantages of climate are to be reckoned, and those who have had experience both there and here are never divided in opinion as to which is preferable. The farmer here has numberless opportunities which he has not there; and it will not be long till this is duly known and generally acknowledged.

The German Empire.

The new empire established in Germany, with William as Emperor, was feted at Versailles on New Year's day, one of the Princes pronouncing an oration in its praise. There is a threefold division of responsibility,—the Crown, the Princes and the Parliament. The Parliament is to consist of three hundred and eighty-two members, elected by ballot, and universal suffrage, in the proportion of one member for every one hundred thousand of the population. In this house Prussia will be represented by two hundred and forty, or nearly two-thirds of the whole. But while Prussia will be master of the situation in the popular branch of the Government, there is a check upon her in the Imperial Council or Senate, which is to consist of the Princes of Germany, with the following number of votes respectively:

Emperor (King of Prussia)	17	Saxe Altenburg	1
Bavaria	6	Waldeck	1
Saxony	4	Lippe-Detmold	1
Wurtemburg	4	Schwarzburg-Rodelstadt	1
Baden	3	Schwarzburg-Sondershausen	1
Hesse	3	Reuss Schleiz	1
Mecklenburg-Schwerin	2	Schaumburg-Lippe	1
Brunswick	2	Reuss Greiz	1
Oldenburg	1	Hamburg	1
Saxe-Weimar	1	Lubeck	1
Mecklenburg Strellitz	1	Bremen	1
Saxe-Meiningen	1
Anhalt	1	Total	58
Saxe-Coburg Gotha	1

Therefore in the Imperial Council or Senate or House of Lords Prussia will have less than a one-third vote, so that the smaller States have this chance to restrain her. However, in case they prove refractory, she will be strong enough to bend them to her will; and from her past history it is reasonable to suppose that she will find a way of doing it.

The Woman Suffrage Controversy.

A large number of ladies recently addressed a memorial to Congress in opposition to the proposed amendment to the Constitution to give women the right to vote. Among those who signed the memorial were Mrs. General Sherman, Mrs. Admiral Dahlgren, Mrs. Senator Corbett, and many others of high standing. Their action has terribly incensed those of their sisters who demand the elective franchise. In Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly, a paper conducted by two of the "strong-minded" in the city of New York, an article is published with the caption,—"History repeats itself.—Mesdames Sherman, Dahlgren & Co. Assuming the Role of the Negro Slaves of the South;"—and in the body of the article it is asserted that the argument of the above named "Mesdames" is that of those who used to declare that the negroes did not want liberty and were perfectly satisfied to remain slaves. "Imbecility," says the writer of the article, "is a constant accompaniment of a desired condition of political servitude;" the ladies who addressed the memorial to Congress against the suffrage proposition are called a "sham aristocracy," are sneered at for their "ignorance" and "stupidity," are designated as "ladies" (the word written with quotation marks, as much as to say "ladies so-called"), and are in many other ways fleered and derided. The diatribe closes with the observation that the memorial of these "Mesdames" should not prejudice the right of those women "whose intelligence entitles them to the suffrage." The whole article is full of vinegar and aqua fortis. It is some comfort for "tyrant man" to find that he has not to sustain the whole weight of the objurgations of that portion of the female sex who have started out to obtain their rights. It is a controversy among women, rather than between women and men.

The present war humbles England almost as much as it humbles France. In its ultimate consequences it is almost as heavy a blow at England as at French influence in European affairs. The complete triumph of Russia at the London Conference is an evidence of that fact. By the overthrow of France the equipoise between the Western and Eastern Powers is destroyed, and the influence of England sinks with the downfall of France. Russia and Germany will have their own way. The preponderance of power has changed from Western to Eastern Europe. France has fallen, and England abandons the attempt to maintain the ascendency alone.

Paternal Authority.

We have already given our readers an extract from Pere Hyacinth's eloquent and thoughtful Notre Dame lectures in the season of Advent, 1866. From the one entitled Fatherhood, we select the following. The idea or thought contained in the lines we have italicised is both original and exquisitely beautiful:

"An illustrious thinker has said: 'The child is always a minor before nature, even when he is of age before the State. The paternal authority is essentially perpetual. In a certain sense, the child comes to his majority the day that he fairly attains the age of reason; he has from that time a sense of justice and injustice; he is free and responsible, he holds directly from his own conscience and from God. But if man is essentially free by virtue of his personality and his manhood, he is essentially subject, as a derived being, and as a son. And as the statue, the picture, the melody, the inspired book, if they had souls, would constantly refer their existence to the creative soul from which, in some hour of genius, of anguish, of rapture, they had sprung, just so the son of man, if he have the spirit of a man, even though his brow be bald and his hair be white, will bow his white and bald forehead in respect, in love and obedience, before the ever venerable head of him to whom he owes his being and his life."

A proposition is on foot to annex Utah to Nevada. It is said that the Nevada delegation at Washington have been assured by prominent members of Congress that if Nevada wants Utah she can have it. Most of the Nevada papers favor the project. The principal Democratic organ, the Carson Register, and the leading Republican organ, the Virginia Enterprise, both approve the scheme. When, however, they talk about annexing Utah to Nevada, the former having 90,000 inhabitants, and the latter but 42,000, the old puzzle suggests itself, viz: Which is the tail and which is the dog?

A correspondent of the Yreka Journal, writing from San Francisco, gives a list of Democratic candidates for Governor of California. One of the most prominent gets this notice: "Phil. Roach, proprietor of the Examiner, who has made a little over $50,000 out of that plundering, thieving outrage known as the Litigant Bill, is a candidate, and is busy working up the anti-Chinese element."

A letter from Washington in the Cincinnati Gazette, says that if the San Domingo Commission make a favorable report, there will be no difficulty in securing the requisite number of votes in Congress for annexation, while, on the other hand, if their report is unfavorable, the President will abandon the annexation project forthwith.

Clackamas County Assessments.

MONITOR, Feb. 1st, 1871.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Since the Enterprise of the 28th ult. gives me one of his polite puffs in regard to my assessment for 1870, I would like to say a few words to those whom it may concern through your paper, since but very few indeed would ever see them, were the Enterprise courteous enough to publish the same.

His attention has been called to an instance where a parcel of land was valued at a much higher value than the year previous, while he asserts that in many other instances land was valued at a less figure. In another article in the same paper he says that although the County Commissioners have levied one-half mill less tax this year than in 1869, yet the amount derived from the same will be greater, in which he himself gives the lie to the first assertion. On entering upon the duties of the Assessor's office, I was sworn to faithfully discharge the duties of the same "according to law;" and the law requires me to assess all property at "its true cash value," not one-fourth or one-half its value, nor even its auction value.

As the law gives every person the right to deduct the amount of his indebtedness from the total amount of his taxable property, by means of a too low valuation of property, a large class were enabled to pay their entire taxes with their indebtedness, thus of course increasing the burden on those so unfortunate as to be out of debt, and increasing it two fold on holders of money or cash notes. Thus A buys a tract of land of B, for which he is to pay two thousand dollars, paying one thousand down and note for balance. The land is assessed at eight hundred dollars, and A has two hundred dollars worth of personal property. Yet he pays no tax whatever, while B pays on one thousand dollars cash and a note for one thousand more on this piece of land, which, had A paid the entire amount down, would only pay taxes on eight hundred.

Hence by following the common usage in this as well as other counties, in order to make every man think I was favoring him by placing a low valuation on his property, and swindling the State out of its just revenue, I would be obliged to perjure myself and render the burdens of taxation very unequal, and no lighter except on the class who are heavily in debt. Still it will be seen by reference to the census returns that I have not valued property nearly as high as the owners themselves valued the same. Yet in one instance I admit I did assess one piece of property too high, viz: when I assessed the Enterprise editor's poll at one dollar.

C. C. GARRETT.

OREGON.

During last week wheat was sold at Eugene City at one dollar per bushel.

There is not a Democratic paper in the State in unison with the Herald, says the Eugene Journal. Every one has, at some time or other, given it a kick. Its proprietor has been accused of "gross frauds" by the representatives of the Democracy of the State, assembled in the Legislature, and it has been repudiated by every organ of the Democratic party.

The Eugene Journal thinks the editor of the Oregon City Enterprise is a funny man. He is surprised to think "radical" editors will expose their ignorance by claiming that there is more wealth in Oregon now than there was ten years ago. He asks: "Do they not know that there is not now as much actual wealth in our State today as there was ten years ago?" We are not surprised at anything about this question, coming from the source it did, except the fact that it has been a whole week since it was asked and we have heard of no recruit to Dr. Hawthorne's institution during the time.

From the Corvallis Gazette: On last Thursday morning Mr. H. T. Taylor, butcher of this place killed for beef a cow that he had bought of Messrs. Jacobs & Neugass, merchants in this city. They took the maw of the animal and threw it in the hog pen, and as the debris struck the ground they heard a dull jingle as that of nails. They concluded to open it, and on examination, found that it contained two pounds of nails, some of them over two inches long, a jack knife, a chunk of lead, a rock the size of a hen's egg, a piece of a gold watch fob, a five cent piece, and seven or eight large coat buttons. This may seem strange, and undoubtedly is, but nevertheless it is true, as we are informed by the butchers themselves. The stomach where these articles were deposited had almost worn through.

THE TERRITORIES.

Wheat is only 79 cents at Walla Walla.

The value of imports from foreign countries entered at Puget Sound during the year 1870 was only $17,320. The foreign exports, however, for that period foots up the sum of $160,607. The number of vessels entering from foreign ports was 136; tonnage, 49,149. The majority of these vessels, we presume, were from Victoria. It is estimated that the coastwise exports for the year had a value of $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON FACT AND GOSSIP.

An effort will be made soon by the friends of the Pacific Railroad to get a postponement of the time for paying interest on the bonds, which the Government claims to be due. The committees of both Houses having charge of the matter will report favorably, it is said, on such a proposition.

Secretary Robeson has ordered the Sharps and Hawkins carbines to be withdrawn from all naval vessels and sold, and the Remington breech loaders to be supplied in their stead. Ten thousand Remington rifles have recently been made at the Springfield Armory. Portions of the seamen on each vessel will be armed with the brown-barrelled breech-loaders and drilled as infantry, and the marines supplied with the same arms with bright barrels. Martin's copper cased cartridges will be used.

Adjutant General Townsend has telegraphed General Augur, at Omaha, in reference to subsistence for Indians, reported in a starving condition, that the President directs that the Indians referred to be subsisted, and that a thousand head of cattle be purchased and sent forward; also to notify Major Chambers to furnish subsistence for the Indians near Laramie. The President directs a limited issue of ammunition for small game be issued to the Indians at Laramie and Fetterman.

Ex Senator Hendricks, of Indiana, was before the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, a few days ago, and advocated that the appropriation of $100,000 recommended by the Secretary of the Navy for the purchase for the use of the Navy of the Gattling gun be allowed. This gun is now used by Turkey, Russia, Prussia and England, and was used to some extent by the United States during the war. It is said to be more effectual and destructive than the mitrailleuse. The committee seemed to be favorably impressed, but took no action upon the subject.

Miss Vinnie Ream's statue of Lincoln was unveiled on the evening of the 25th January in the Rotunda of the Capitol. President Grant, Colfax, Sherman, Judge Davis and the orator of the occasion, occupied seats on the platform. There was a large audience. After music by the band, Judge Davis, of the Supreme Court, proceeded to unveil the statue, which was covered with the National flag; as soon as this was done, the assembly broke into applause. Addresses were delivered by Senators Trumbull, Patterson and Carpenter and Representatives Collom, Banks, and Brooks, of New York, eulogistic of Lincoln and in congratulation of the success of Miss Ream.

Senator Wilson has introduced a bill to regulate the appointment of inferior officers in the civil service, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary. It provides that Government employees, receiving more than $1,200 per annum, shall be appointed only after examination as to their qualifications before a board, and if, after three months probation, found efficient, they are to be appointed for four years, and them be eligible for reappointment upon the recommendation of a chief of a bureau. It prohibits the removal of such employees, except for incapacity or improper conduct, forbids the levying of political assessments upon or payments by such employees, and prohibits them from being delegates to or members of political conventions, committees, or similar organizations on pain of summary dismissal.

A Washington special (Jan. 28th) to the Evening Post says that the question of the settlement of the Alabama claims has been reopened, and that negotiations are in progress between this country and Great Britain. The matter was the subject of careful consideration at a Cabinet meeting, and at the instance of the Administration it was brought before the Committee on Foreign Relations. While the Administration is anxious to settle this matter with Great Britain by a treaty conceding even more than is believed would be acceptable to the American people, there are a large number of prominent Republicans who believe that further efforts should be made to pass a bill auditing and paying the claims arising from the depredations committed not only by the Alabama, but by four other rebel cruisers. The President and Administration are ready to accept terms, but before the treaty is finally concluded the feeling of the Senate must be fully known, so as to be secure against rejection if submitted for action.

POLITICAL NOTES.

H. G. Davis, (Dem.) has been elected U. S. Senator from West Virginia.

In Connecticut the Republican State ticket of last year has been renominated by acclamation. The election will take place in April.

In the Missouri Legislature Frank Blair received 102 votes for Senator. John B. Henderson received 59, and Congressman Benjamin, 5.

Frank Blair voted, in the Senate, against the repeal of the income tax. Frank starts in rather brash, and before long he will astonish the Democrats still more by the remarkable inconsistency of his votes.

The S. F. Examiner, in trying to court the favor of colored voters refers to them as the "colored race." That paper is on the improve, as it used to be considered treason in the Democratic ranks if a colored man was called anything but a "nigger."

Ex Governor Vance of North Carolina, has learned something. It is this: that his record since, as well as during the war, is as well known in Washington as in North Carolina. With great nonchalance of manner he assured his friends that the Senate of the United States would not dare refuse to admit him. He was elected and came on to see the lay of the land. An experience of one week about the Senate lobby has satisfied him that disloyal utterances are odious, and he returns to his constituents—the Kuklux Legislature of North Carolina—a wiser, if not a better man. If he profits by his experience here, he will at once cause that Legislature to expel its illegally seated members and commence work de novo.

A Washington letter to the Eugene Journal contains this. The mail route from Umatilla to Yakima, which was suspended when the bids were opened last winter, has been recently let to D. P. Thompson.

MR. GEO. P. RILEY,

SUBJECT—Toussaint L'Ouverture, the Hero of San Domingo.

The character of Toussaint L'Ouverture may well be considered as one of the most striking of that remarkable era, opened by the revolution of 1789—the central figure of which was the great Napoleon.

So soon as it was known in San Domingo that a Republic had been declared in France, the French residents of the Island sent a congratulatory address to the Constituent Assembly, and cordially accepted the new order of things. At this time the free negroes of the Island were denied all privileges, and slavery existed in its worst form. A revolt at once took place, and a bloody war followed, which resulted in the freeing of the slaves [illegible] Toussaint at the head of the combined [illegible] and the Island. Under his leadership [illegible] England and Spain to wrest San Domingo [illegible] successfully foiled, and Toussaint [illegible] President of the Republic of Hayti. [illegible] satisfied to the Man of Destiny, then First [illegible] and sent a force to reduce the Island and to [illegible] slavery. The story of treachery and deceit, [illegible] manly and dignified bearing of L'Ouverture, his [illegible] and withal so forlorn an interesting [illegible] and one but little known.

San Domingo is just now exciting no small attention in view of the possibility of its becoming a part of the Great Republic, that all items of interest concerning it are eagerly sought for by the people.

Mr. Riley's lecture will incidentally embody a full description of its topographical position, its products and people, and without pretending to advocate either side of the controversy now existing regarding its acquisition, will give a purely historical address, devoid of political bias.

Those who have listened to Mr. Riley's platform addresses, needless to be told that he speaks with fluency, correctness and fervor, and is master of a rhetoric which often rises to eloquence. When it is considered that his natural abilities have been aided by self-culture only, under the disadvantages peculiar to his race, no fair-minded person will fail to give him a respectful hearing.

CITY.

INTERIOR MARKETS, ETC.—From ROSS' Real Estate Record, Walla Walla, published on the 1st inst., we take the subjoined items concerning commercial, agricultural and manufacturing matters:

Butter is still held at 50 cents per pound in this market, and scarce at that figure.

We understand that several parties are buying up stock, in this valley, to transport to Montana.

The soap factory, at the lower end of town, is now in full blast, and can fill all orders in that line.

Mr. I. T. Reese made sale, on the 28th ult., of 150 fat hogs. The price received was 8 cents per pound, on foot.

Beef cattle sell here at from 6 to 7 cents per pound on foot; hogs, 9 cents, dressed; mutton sheep $4 per head.

Owing to the prospect of a railroad soon being built through our valley, many who have hesitated heretofore, are now anxious to invest in real estate, either in town or country.

Mr. I. T. Reese, proprietor of the Standard and Frontier Mill, on Saturday the 28th, made the purchase of some 20,000 bushels of wheat, the price paid for which was 70 cents per bushel.

The current prices paid for this month are about the same as for the month previous, excepting in wheat and flour. Large sales of wheat have been made during the past month, the prices ranging from 60 to 70 cents per bushel. The prices are now firm at 70 cents. Since our last issue flour has advanced from $4 to $5 per barrel, at which figure it is now held. Apples are selling at from 7 to 10 cents per pound, per box, according to quality. Potatoes rule at 1 cent per pound.

The Standard and Frontier Mill, I. T. Reese proprietor, furnishes us the following figures, showing the business done at his mill: During the present month the mill has ground 9,000 bushels of wheat, making 2,000 barrels flour and 100,000 pounds of mill feed. Mr. D. J. Schuebly, the Agate Mills, inform us that since the last grain harvest he has ground 28,011 bushels of wheat, 676 bushels of corn, and 335 bushels of barley. A good part of this was custom work. At this mill there was a large quantity of pork slaughtered, as also at I. T. Reese's mill.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK AT LAST.—The Mountaineer says a gentleman of Dalles City is writing a description of Eastern Oregon for publication in that paper. All right. When the people of Eastern Oregon shall have done something to make that section known in the world, then they may justly growl about the newspapers which have been so failing to appreciate the vast resources [illegible] our State." So far as we are [illegible] writing the information he shall receive concerning Eastern Oregon has been furnished pretty exclusively by Webfoot institutions—McCormick's Almanac, the Portland Immigrant Aid Society, Portland newspapers, Real Estate Brokers, etc. Let the Mountaineer and Eastern Oregon quills now try their hand at it.

COUNTY FAIR.—We have a letter from J. H. [illegible], Secretary of the Linn County Agricultural Association, in which the following information is [illegible]: [illegible] the county will commence [illegible] September 1871, and continue [illegible] during which time the following liberal premiums will be offered [illegible] ...esting—Mile heats, [illegible] Mile heats, 2 in 3, $150, for 4 year olds. One mile, $75, for 3 year olds. Mile heats, 2 in 3, $300, free for all. One mile, [illegible] $75, for 3 year olds. Mr. Smith's blue mare debarred from the above purses. These purses are large enough to secure the services of several first class horses.

Colonel [illegible] a vocal and instrumental concert will be given in the [illegible] Second and Fourth streets, [illegible] Mr. Reader, of the organ, [illegible] and he will be assisted by [illegible] musical talent in this city. The [illegible] will consist of solos, duetts, quartettes, [illegible] &c. The concert is to be given [illegible] the Baptist Church society—tickets $1 each, to be had in advance at all the music stores and at Mr. DuBois' furrier store.

SEWING MACHINE.—We call attention to the advertisement in our paper of the "agency for Barbour's linen thread" Phillips, Brown & [illegible] San Francisco are agents for the manufacturers. They claim for the thread that it is superior in strength and finish to any make ever offered in this market.

ANNUAL ELECTION.—At the annual election of officers of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society, on the 1st inst., the following officers were elected: President, Ed. Cahalin; Vice President, [illegible] Monument; Secretary, Chas. J. Fitzgerald; Treasurer, Frank Gatens.

LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—We trust that the lecture to-night at the Young Men's Christian Association, will be remembered by everybody. The Vienxtemps Brothers being absent from the city other good music will be provided.

INQUIRED FOR.—E. B. Fuller of Lafayette, Oregon, wants to know where is Charles Bently who left Express Ranch, Baker county, in 1867, to go to Camp C. F. Smith. Who can tell?

THE BARK STELLA, which is now due, is to report to Messrs. Hibbard & Co., and to be loaded by them with Salem flour from Salem Flouring Mill Company.

LADIES—Clarke, Henderson & Cook have just received per steamer Ajax, a large invoice of Jouvine Kid Gloves, which they will sell at reduced rates.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.—Trial jurors called—all present—as follows: R. Speddon, J. M. Caywood, William Masters, George Morrow, William Cree, John B. Garniton, S. D. Moore, Demoval Talbot, F. Condon, D. D. Tompkins, G. B. Smith, E. D. Kelly, William F. Burns, J. L. Barlow, W. L. White, H. Buck, Thomas R. Fields, J. R. Ralston.

Benjamin Stark vs. Jacob Kamm—ordered up on stipulation of the parties, that the claim for damages in the complaint and the allegations relative thereto in the answer and reply be stricken out. Cause tried by the Court without jury, testimony closed and cause submitted. Hill & Page for plaintiff; Logan for defendant.

Trial jury discharged and order made for their payment.

Court adjourned to Friday next.

COUNTY COURT—HAMILTON, JUDGE.—In Probate—In the matter of the guardianship of Frank E. Northrup, minor—the report of sale of real property by guardian, was filed; order of confirmation of sale.

In the matter of the petition of Ann O'Brien to adopt Clement Laport, an infant, the consent of J. W. Davis, next friend by appointment of the Court, was filed and an order was issued allowing petitioner to adopt the child and to change its name to Clement O'Brien.

In the matter of the estate of the Ehinger heirs, report of sale of real estate filed and such sale confirmed by order.

In the matter of the guardianship of Jemima Watson, time in which to file inventory of estate was extended till the next term of Court.

County Business—Commissioners Burton and Kenworthy sitting with the Judge.

Settlements were made with Supervisors of districts No. 5, 9 and 20.

The Court appointed Rev. Geo. H. Atkinson Superintendent of Common Schools for Multnomah county, vice Rev. E. Anderson, resigned.

The Court adjourned till to-morrow at 10 for law business, and till 1 P. M. for county business.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—The first appearance of Miss Leo Hudson, last night, was greeted with the fullest house of the entire season. It was, in fact, a regular jam, every seat and all the available standing room in the whole house being occupied. The drama of "Rookwood, or Dick Turpin's ride to York," was put on the stage in far better style than we had thought possible, and considering the fact that it was the first time that the cast had ever played together and that many of them had never before played a line in it, the play went off remarkably well. Miss Hudson's first appearance was a most flattering success. The same will be repeated to-night, when, all being more familiar with the "business" of the play, it may be expected to go as smooth as clock-work, and as lively as can be desired.

RAILROAD MEETING.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE SPEECHES—SUBSCRIPTIONS

As per announcement, a meeting was held at the Court House last evening, to aid in finishing up the subscription of $100,000 for the West Side Railroad.

Mr. Stittzel took the Chair and called the meeting to order—Mr. Ferry acting as Secretary.

MR. STITZEL REPORTS PROGRESS.

Upon taking the Chair Mr. Stitzel stated the Committee had raised an aggregate of $83,030; but a member of the Committee not present, was understood to have about $2,000 more, which would leave $15,000 to be still raised. The time in which to obtain it is now very short, next Thursday being the last day. The Committee had canvassed the entire city, calling upon nearly or quite every owner of real property, and he thought it probable that not more than two or three thousand dollars could be obtained unless those who have already subscribed add to their subscriptions. There are on the list 350 names. The committee have been guarded and careful to take only such subscriptions as would be perfectly good. In the beginning it was thought that 4 per cent. on assessments would raise the whole sum; but many had not put down more than half of one per cent., one per cent., etc., while a few had gone as high as ten, fifteen and twenty per cent. One subscription of $2,000 was 5 per cent of the man's total assessment. There are many here who have not and probably will not subscribe anything. They have probably made up their minds that the road will come here anyway; but they may be mistaken about the building of the road to either Portland or East Portland, if this subscription shall finally fail. It ought to be raised, it can be and must be. It is vital to the interests of Portland to have the road on one side of the river or the other—on the Portland side if possible. It can be raised if men who are interested will come up to the scratch.

REMARKS OF W. W. PAGE.

Mr. Page being called for, arose and made a telling speech of fifteen or twenty minutes. He said we are now called upon to do an act for the best interests of the city of Portland. The question is not what may be our personal feelings, but what is for the best general good. When such a question is submitted the heart and hand should go with the best of our citizens to accomplish the act. He spoke of the growth of railroads, and relates at the East—of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, 100 miles of which was projected in 1844—that was then considered a stupendous undertaking, but it has grown to be such a grand system as could never have been dreamed by the wildest visionary. All over the Western and Middle States thousands upon thousands of acres of wild country have been made to blossom as the rose. So here in Oregon, throughout the length and breadth of the land, the building of railroads would open up and develop the country. To insure one of the most important necessaries toward this development, we are here called upon to raise a sum now less than twenty thousand dollars. His heart was in it. He had before subscribed $50—a sum which he thought then was all he could afford; but he now proposed to make it $500. (Applause.) And he called upon all to come up and do what he would do. There are many here who are able to increase their subscriptions. He would ask no man to do what he would not do himself. The road would, directly or indirectly give employment or make employment for thousands of men, just as the eastern road of which he had spoken, had given employment to ten thousands upon ten thousands. He cited the development of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, etc., since the great railroad systems had reached them. We can confidently expect one thing, that when our system of railroads shall be completed, this country will be the grand highway of commerce between Asia and the East. In view of these grand results which he could plainly foresee, he would now increase his subscription from $50 to $500. (Applause.)

JUDGE UPTON'S REMARKS.

Judge Upton was called, and he responded by saying that talk would now done better from men who had money to back their words. He regretted that he was not able to do so well as Judge Page had done; but he was willing to assist the enterprise in any way within his power. He hoped subscribers would see the necessity of increasing their subscriptions so as to raise the remaining $17,000. The policy of the enterprise was apparent to every mind. Even while we have been talking of raising this $100,000, the real estate of the city has advanced in value more than $500,000. He believed Portland destined to be a great center of trade; he was one of those who believed that she has great natural advantages; but this fact will not necessarily bring the railroad here. He believed this proposition a good one as a money-making proposition; that every dollar put into it will be returned many fold within the next five years. He believed it the best sort of an investment. He was in favor of circulating the subscription paper and let everyone put down as much as he can afford. (Applause).

SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The following subscriptions were then put down, most of them being an increase of former subscriptions:

Leonard & Green	$ 500	W. W. Upton	$ 100
Xavier & Burnside	500	W. W. Page	450
J. H. Reed	100	F. A. Mangham	200
J. C. Ainsworth	500	Lloyd Brooke	250
A. H. Johnson	250	W. W. Spalding	100

J. W. Snook (new)	200	J. B. Cardwell	50
E. K. Arnold	50	N. J. Owen (new)	40
Total for the evening			$3,265

MR. HALLOCK'S REMARKS.

Mr. A. B. Hallock being called said that he had always been in favor of a railroad on the west side. He objected to the words used by the President of the meeting the "we must raise" this money. Still he was in favor of doing it because it was a wise business transaction. The manner of doing had not in his opinion been the wisest. It had already gone out that Portland could not raise $100,000, and he believed that the manner in which the whole matter had been treated had damaged Portland more than $500,000. He referred to Kalama as a possible rival of Portland and expressed a disbelief in the possibility of the railroads alone making it ever a successful rival; because water transportation is always the cheapest and best for a country which has it. He thought it the wisest course to take a business view of this matter, and if it were found to be of advantage to the city, subscribe the money; if not to her advantage, don't touch it. He then went on to show by the aid of water transportation Portland had grown, and spoke at some length of the past history of the city and its transportation facilities. But after all, at a time when there was really some rivalry between various points on the river, Portland was made by the construction of the roads by which direct and easy communication with the west side country is secured. The railroad is another means of communication, and when done it will increase the value of property in Portland five or six millions of dollars. He showed how at one time a subscription of $3,000 induced the O. S. N. Co. to put their capital and interests into the city of Portland, and as a result of that how much had been done for the growth and permanency of the city. The fact of securing the railroad terminus here, will fasten another powerful interest in favor of Portland. He referred to the failure of the $300,000 subsidy amendment to the charter, and approved the Governor's veto. About the time this subscription started an ordinance had been introduced into the City Council to grant a subsidy of $100,000 He believed that ordinance would have been constitutional, but the friends of the subscription had opposed it, though it would have levied the taxation equally upon all property. He had opposed this subscription scheme because it was unequal. But when we come to take a business view of the present situation he was in favor of it and of giving all he could afford. He looked upon all public improvements as the means of increasing the value of property, and instanced the effect of street improvements upon back property. The railroad will have a similar effect. Every man who puts in a dollar will have his money back, in increased value of real estate, on the day the building of the road is assured. The increase since this matter was first talked of shows this. He believed that if the committee would go through the city to-morrow and tell the subscribers that Mr. Lewis, Savier & Burnside, Capt. Ainsworth, etc., had increased their subscriptions each $500, or as the case may be, the amount yet lacking would be raised before night.

The meeting then pdjourned, the President taking occasion to say that the Committee is going for the balance to day.

CRIMINAL PROSECUTION.—Charles A. WANT OF SLEEP.—Opium or morphine is usually prescribed as a soporific. Both are violent remedies and react violently, producing nausea, headache and prostration. They are often given when they are not needed; and not unfrequently they increase the irritation of the brain instead of soothing it. Probably in seventy-five cases out of a hundred in which they are administered, PLANTATION BITTERS given in moderate doses and at proper intervals, would have the desired effect. Persons who find it difficult to compose their minds to sleep after lying down at night, or whose slumbers are disturbed by bad dreams, or are too tired to afford due nourishment, are advised to try the PLANTATION BITTERS as an anodyne; for this comprehensive medicine is not only a tonic and alterative, but a delightful sedative—a "balm of hurt minds" as well as a revivifier of enfeebled frames.

Its use, as a means of producing healthful sleep, involves none of the unpleasant secondary consequences of a resort to the former narcotics. They all, without exception excite the stomach; while the effect of the Bitters is to tone, and without irritating that sensitive organ.

UNK WEED REMEDY!
OR
RHEUMATIC CURE.
HISTORY:
THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE ACTIVE principle of the Unk Weed, Eng.—Thespium. Cordatum, Grigantia, Lat.—Indigenous to Oregon—Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county.

PROPERTIES, &c.:
It contains an active volatile principle extracted by Ether, and a bitter Tonic principle.

Medical Properties and Uses:
It is the most Sure and Speedy Cure for Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout and Rheumatic Pains of all kinds that has ever been introduced in the Materia Medica. The Unk Weed Remedy as prepared by us, in consequence of the existing bitter principle, possesses the necessary virtue of being a POWERFUL TONIC!

Promoting the Appetite and Invigorating the whole Digestive Apparatus, thus building and strengthening the system, while at the same time the volatile principle, being absorbed in the blood, acts specifically on the Rheumatic Poison, removing it from the circulation and system.

There are few remedies known to the Medical profession, which will remove the Rheumatic poison from the blood, but whose action is so powerful in depressing the system of the already enfeebled Rheumatic patient, that their use has to be abandoned before specific effects are obtainable. Hence the want of success in treating this prevalent, and in consequence, heretofore incurable disease. Unlike these Medicines, already known, the

"Unk weed Remedy"
Though producing as powerful and as active effects on the blood and system in removing the Rheumatic Poison, also possesses a strong Tonic and recuperating element, which admits of its continued use even in the most delicate and debilitated. Thus we have the combination for the first time of these two necessary elements in one remedy, which accounts for its superior and never failing curative effects in

RHEUMATISM, RHEUMATIC GOUT
AND
RHEUMATIC PAINS
Of all kinds.

Put Up in 10 oz. Bottles at $1 50 per Bottle.

A Hardshell Sermon

DELIVERED DOWN IN ARKANSAS

Text— An I when they rz up early in the mornin, behold they was all dead cor pusses

My brethering and sistering I will preach unto you this day wind and weather permittin from the thirty seventh chapter uv Isaih thirty sixth verse, which reads as fol lows

An the destroyin angel smote in the camp uv the Syremans, a hundred and four score an five thousing men—and when they rz up early in the morning behold they was all dead corpusses

An thus it is my beloved friends and friendly hearers that the destroyin angel stalks abroad with his meat axe ready to send us to the boneyard before we can rise up in the mornin and set down to breakfast And it is said, my frens, that roses is red and violets is blue, but it s no use tryin to honeyfugle round the angel Gabriel when he toots his horn for you to hand in your checks an prepare to git under dirt, for you ll hev to hunt fur your hole then, sartin

' An when they rz up early in the mornin, behold they was all dead corpusses '

My wretched brethern and sistern, as I was ridin along the road I seen a man sittin on the top uv his fense, with a double barrelled shot gun in his lap and a sweatin and fannin uv himself with an old straw hat and a cussin uv the Fourth of July, an North America an the Constitution, an the Supreme Court, an the President uv the United States an the bird uv liberty, an the Freedman's Bure, and the Fifteenth Amendment, and when I heard that man a cussin, an seen that big shot gun, thinks I to myself in the words uv the text

"An when they rz up early in the mornin behold they was all dead corpusses."

An I told roan to wo, an ses I, my ungodly fren, if you swar in that ar way you ll for ever and eternally runnate your eternal soul an never git a nibble when you go a fishin

An sez he, ' Yoongo to —, you durned ole mushapon, misbegotton mistake uv creation, if you had to git the grass out of a cotton crap with free niggers, you'd git on a stump an cuss yourself out uv your darned ole yeller hide an go to — fur your helth '

Sez I ' My ermin fren, it cuts me to the marrer to see you strugglin in the bondige uv sin ' An sez he My puskin faced custom — if you can climb that ar tall red oak thar and see anything in this ere miserable land but bondage and crab grass, you kin take my ole hat fur a hen s nest "

An sez I ' My hard swearin fren, you ll never register your name in the book uv eternal life '

An sez he "I went to town last week to register, but I couldn't get site uv the book for the infernal greasy niggers "

"Oh mistaken human," sez I, "tremble for yer future, for you are on the road a leadin to perdishon '

An sez he "You're a cussed ole liar, for I m on the road a leadin to Benton "

I hove a sigh, an sez I, in the language uv my text

'An when they rz up early in the mornin behold they wuz all ded corpusses '

An he sed 'Let 'em rise and the devil take em all "

"Oh sufferin feller-critter," sez I, "ef you would but sue for grace ye mite come an jine the hevingly quire, an be emancipated from the shackles uv sin an escape eyerlastin perdishun " An he cooked up his gun an sez he, "I had twenty six likely niggers emancipated on my hands an ef you open your jaw-bone bout emancipation to me again I'll make buzzard vittles out n yer infernal ole carcass before —— could search a nat "

My constant frens an hearers, when I seen that wicked man cockin uv his gun, I began to feel mighty jubus, and the words uv my text smote upon my ear

' An when they rz up early in the mornin behold they was all dead corpusses '

But, my Christian hearers, I felt called upon to try my hand once more on this poor obyurt man, an sez I again, ' my blasphemous fren, you are continually and eternally damned ef you don t immejitly get down off that ar fence and go to some sequested spot an pray for your soul's redemption."

An sure nuff he did jump down on the fence, but he didn t hunt no sequested spot, my ungodly hearers he put that old shot gun close up to my revered head, an sez he "I have seen that a squatter is the next thing to a emigrator, and ef that s your business in these parts you had better begin to grow a mail and butifully less " An my — ooked to me as ef a drove of mules — had have trotted down the barrel uv that — and put spurs to my old roan all pell mell through the wilderness, and my friends, ef that ar man don't repent, he ll get to the end uv his rope — abode whar the worm dieth not — is not squilched, for the language — my cat says, with a slight variation

' And when he riz up early in the mornin, behold he will be a dead corpse "

An sure nuff three days after he was tuck up an tried by a military commission an hung for killin a nigger And my listnin frens an hearers when I seed him standin on the great emenasty uv space, between wind and weather, a rockin at the Fourth District, sez I, in the language of the inspired himn:

One more sinner dead and gone,
A silver spade to dig his grave,
A — len chain to let him down,
A — horn to blow him in "

"An when they rz up early in the mornin, behold they — as all dead corpusses "

The brethren will sing a concluding hime while the deacons hand round the hat for the nickels

Fisk's Love and Fisk's Rival

WHY STOKES WAS ARRESTED—HIS STATEMENT OF THE CASE

Mr Stokes, who was arrested some days ago as an alleged embezzler, and who has since been proclaimed a rival of Fisk, Jr, in the affection of one Mrs Lawlor, makes, through his counsel, the following statement

He claims that the present litigation grows solely from the jealousy entertained of him by James Fisk Jr in regard to the presumed preference expressed for his (Stokes') society by Mrs Mansfield Lawlor a former actress, and wife of Frank Lawlor, the actor

Mr Stokes claims to have been on friendly terms with Mrs Lawlor long before Mr Fisk made her acquaintance; and that it is no secret that, although Mr. Fisk is passionately attached to the lady in question, and has lavished on her houses, diamonds, and Erie stock, she by no means reciprocated his attachment, but has abandoned his protection repeatedly and finally, although Fisk has, with tears in his eyes (her affidavit), besought her to remain, has left him permanently, Fisk refuses to believe that the lady has wearied of him, but attributes all her tantasies to the interference of Mr Stokes The financier first avenged himself on his rival by canceling all Stokes heavy contracts, amounting to over $50,000 a year, with the Erie Railroad Then finding that Stokes was not ruined, Fisk endeavored to conciliate him, and on the 26th of October, 1870, an interview took place between the two at Delmonico's, which was adjourned to the residence of Mrs Lawlor, and which did not terminate till 3½ the next morning, and even then in a manner unsatisfactory to Fisk

Finding Stokes troublesome and Lawlor obstinate, Fisk proceeded to "ex revenge" himself by endeavoring to "oust" Stokes from his share in the oil works on Long Island, owned jointly by Fisk, Stokes, Hardy and Byers When Stokes offered to buy the concern out for $125,000, Mr Hardy absented himself, and when at last Fisk gave Mr Stokes an order of transfer on Mr Byers, the latter repudiated Fisk s order At last, acting on the motto, sauve qui peut Mr Stokes followed the precedent set him by Mr Byers, and collected what money he could of the firm's debt to protect himself, for which course the charge of embezzlement and forgery was brought against him Stokes claims that since his release on bail the Fisk party have offered him $110,000 to compromise the suit and to purchase his interest in the oil bonds, and also to pay him $12 000 a year rental for the ground on which it stands This offer has been declined Mr Stokes also denies being at Amelia Gratom s on the night of his arrest

GENERALITIES

General Lamb s assets are estimated at four or five million dollars but being in real estate are not convertible into cash

Mr Robert Buchanan has written a new lyrical drama called Napoleon Fallen The scene is laid at Wilhelmshohe

A Buffalo man aggravates his wife by wearing five bands of crape on his hat, which constantly reminds her that she is the sixth sharer of his affections

Hollanders don t think anything of skating ten or twelve miles an hour safely carrying baskets of eggs on their shoulders Americans don't think of it either

A young colored man in Kansas whose pedal extremities project from the middle of his feet skates as easily backward as forward but in making short turns he has an awkward habit of treading on his own heels, which causes him to suddenly take a seat on the back of his head

There is a little railroad near Bayou Sara, Louisiana, that runs to Woodville on a very uncertain schedule A stranger came in, the other day, and inquired how often that steam car made trips to the country The party interrogated said, "Tri weekly " What do you mean by that? The answer was, ' It goes up one week and tries to come down the next
